AGAIN PROMOTED

THOMAS WALSH ASSISTANT
SUPERINTENDENT O. R. & N.

Veteran Railroad Man Advanced in the Official Roster — Office of Trainmaster Has Been Abolished. Mr. Walsh has been in the Service of the O. R. & N. at La Grande for 15 Years as Operator, Dispatcher and Trainmaster.

Another promotion came to Thomas Walsh, the veteran railroad man of La Grande, yesterday when he was made assistant superintendent of the O. R. & N. lines of the Oregon division, his jurisdiction reaching from Portland to Huntington, and including the Heppner, Condon and Elgin branches.

Mr. Walsh has been trainmaster for the Oregon division for the past year, having been promoted to that place from chief dispatcher at La Grande, which position he filled for about 10 years.

Mr. Walsh has been in the O. R. & N. service at La Grande for 15 years, having been operator, dispatcher, chief dispatcher, trainmaster and now assistant superintendent, the highest position under the office of superintendent of the O. R. & N. lines in Oregon, which position is now held by M. J. Buckley.

The office of trainmaster has been abolished and the duties that went with it will be performed by the chief dispatcher and the assistant superintendent.

MURDERER KNOWN HERE.

J. H. McBain, Who Killed Straut Brothers in Wallowa, Once Visited Echo.

J. H. McBain, of Grand Junction, Col., who killed Straut brothers, on Grouse creek, Wallowa county, Monday night, for jumping his claim, visited Echo about one year ago in search of a homestead and made several acquaintances in this city.

Soon after visiting Echo he went to Wallowa and located his claim in the Promised Land district, upon which he shot to death James and Francis Straut, who jumped his land and attacked him with an ax when he appeared on the claim to begin work.

McBain was shot through the hat by one of the boys, who aimed at his head with a single-barreled shotgun. The tragedy occurred 25 miles northwest of Wallowa postoffice in 12 BLOCKS OF CONCRETE WALK.

Also 13 Blocks of Brick Buildings in Pendleton.

That Pendleton is a progressive and a substantial city is shown by the amount of cement sidewalk that is now being placed. One entire block has just been laid on Court street between Thompson and Johnson, and work has just commenced on the north side of the court house.

This morning the walk in front of the John Schmidt building on Main street is being torn up preparatory to the placing of a cement walk in front of that place.

By the elevation of the walk on the east side of Main street between Court and Water, that side of the street is once more open for travel. Mr. Taylor states that when his building is completed he will finish the concrete walk to the corner of Water street, thus making another full block of concrete sidewalk. When that is done there will then be 12 blocks of concrete walks in the city, and 13 solid blocks of brick buildings.

GOOD SOIL IN THE PALOUSE.

Shown by Examination Made by Soil Expert Means.

Thomas H. Means, chief of the soil division of the reclamation service, came in yesterday afternoon on the W. & C. R. train from Franklin county, Washington, where he has made an examination of the land that is included in the Palouse project. While it is said that he found the soil to be of such a nature as to make reclamation justifiable, it has not been learned with what degree of favor the project is looked upon.

In the evening Mr. Means left on the eastbound train for Minadoka, Idaho, where he will continue his investigations. His headquarters and laboratory are at Berkeley, Cal., where he also has access to the laboratories of the university and experiment station.

WORK ON DITCH EXTENSIONS.

Postponement of Building of Flume From Hinkle Ditch.

O. D. Teel, of Echo, the manager of the Hinkle Ditch company, was in the city yesterday. He reports the work on the extension of the ditch to be progressing well, but that the flume for the Cold Springs enterprise has not yet been constructed, and that it probably will not be this summer. Under the plan the water for the Cold Springs ditch is to be taken from the Hinkle ditch and flumed across the Umatilla river below Echo and used on the dry land on the north side of the river.

WOODCRAFT IS NOW INVITED

Commercial Association Gives Some of the Reasons Why the Headquarters Should Come to Pendleton—Unique Folders Also Sent to Los Angeles to Be Distributed Among Members.

Today Pendleton Commercial association formally invited the Grand Circle of the Women of Woodcraft to investigate the qualifications offered by this city as permanent headquarters for the order. A circular letter was issued and will be sent to the grand circle session at Los Angeles by V. Strohle, who leaves tomorrow for that city.

In addition to the circular letter a most unique folder advertising Pendleton was issued by the association to be distributed among the delegates. The little folder consisted of a blueprint, bearing on one side the plans of the Woodcraft temple, drawn by Howard & Swingle of this city, and on the outside an array of facts and statistics concerning Pendleton.

These folders will also be sent by Mr. Strohle, and distributed by him to the delegates to the grand circle session. It is now thought that Pendleton is in the lead in the race for the headquarters, unless Los Angeles and Denver come to terms and decide to place the headquarters at one of these larger points. The circular letter is as follows:

Pendleton, Ore., April 12, 1905.
To the Officers and Delegates of the Grand Circle of the Women of Woodcraft, assembled in Los Angeles.

Greeting: Appreciating the wisdom which has prompted your estimable order to discuss the matter of concentrating your grand officers at some place in the Pacific jurisdiction, which shall be fixed as permanent headquarters for your order in future, the city of Pendleton, Umatilla county, Oregon, through its Commercial association, hereby cordially invites your consideration of the inducements which this city offers as such headquarters.

Recognizing that this location is to be permanent and so located as to best serve the purposes of the order in future, as well as at present, Pendleton presents qualifications, that cannot be gainsaid. Being centrally located in the Pacific jurisdiction, situated on the main line of the Harriman system, at the junction of the Spokane and Walla Walla branch of the O. R. & N. system, and being a terminus of the Northern Pacific, this city presents unequalled mail and transportation facilities, which must be first considered in conducting the extensive business of your growing order. Every part of the jurisdiction can be reached in a uniform period of time from this city. The health, moral, educational and church conditions are unexcelled in the jurisdiction. The city is growing rapidly, property values having increased about 25 per cent in the past year. Taxes are not high, the rate for 1905 being but 35 1-2 mills, while other Pacific coast cities have a rate of 55 mills and even more.

Believing that your order seeks a location which will be both profitable and economical to the membership, Pendleton cordially invites you to investigate the inducements offered by this city as a permanent location for your headquarters. Your investment could not be more rapidly increased in any other city in the jurisdiction, your convenience could not be served so well, nor could you select a place which would be more desirable as a home for the grand officers and the employees who will reside in the headquarters city.

It is with pardonable pride that Pendleton mentions the fact that two large circles of your order now have their homes in this city, and considering that 25 fraternal orders have organizations here, the 400 membership in the Women of Woodcraft in this city is an extraordinarily large membership, in comparison to the population of the city, which is but 7000.

Before finally deciding upon the headquarters city, Pendleton cordially invites your fullest investigation of her resources and inducements. Her future rests upon an unexcelled wheat district, a large area producing livestock and constantly increasing manufactures, all of which resources are permanent and expansive. Property for a headquarters building can be secured at very reasonable cost at this time, and the prospects for renting the surplus floor space in a Woodcraft building at good figures are excellent, new enterprises making a constant demand for room here. Assuring your estimable order of the kindest regards.

Cordially submitted,
PENDLETON COMMERCIAL ASSOCIATION.

TAYLOR BUILDING

WILL BE COMPLETED IN THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE.

Excavating Is Now in Progress—The Building Will Cover the Entire Lot at the Southeast Corner of Main and Water Streets—A Fifty-foot Front Two Full Stories in Height—Will Be Ready for Occupancy by July Next.

Work on the excavation for the T. C. Taylor building to be erected on the corner of Main and Water streets was commenced this morning, Sam Hastings having the contract.

When asked in regard to the building this morning, Mr. Taylor stated that the work would be carried right through to completion, and that as soon as the work of making the excavation is finished, the contract will be let for erecting the building.

The plans for the building have not yet been completed, but will be substantially as was published a short time ago by this paper. The building will cover the entire lot adjoining the Smith-Crawford building on the north side and extending back to the Neagle property. The building will be two stories, and the lower floor will be made into one room with a 50-foot front. What will be done with the second story has not yet been decided.

Mr. Taylor states that thus far no part of the building has been leased, though there have been several applicants, but that it will in all probability be rented to some local business house. He will not move his hardware store into the new building. Mr. Taylor expects to have the building all finished by July.

SEVEN-FOOT WALK PROBABLE.

Sentiment in the Council Seems Favorable to It.

At the meeting of the city council which will be held tonight, a report will be presented by the street committee favoring the building of a seven-foot walk on the west side of Main street bridge. The matter of widening the walk on the bridge has been before the council now for some time, but has never before been definitely reported on by the street committee. From the sentiment expressed by the different members in the past, there is little doubt but that the improvement will be ordered.

DEATH OF C. P. PATTERSON.

Took Place at Pilot Rock, Caused by Diabetes.

C. P. Patterson, of Pilot Rock, died last night after a lingering illness brought on by diabetes. The deceased was well known there and also in Pendleton. His funeral will occur tomorrow at 2 o'clock, the body being brought here from Pilot Rock. Short services will be conducted at Olney cemetery by friends from his town.

Will Build New Bridges Soon.

Architect C. E. Troutman and Commissioner Horace Walker returned last night from the north end of the county, where they examined the bridges which are to be replaced by the county. The contract for the work will be advertised the latter part of this week, and will include the removal of the old bridges as well as the construction of the new ones. Some of the material of the old structures will be used in making small bridges at other places.

Death of an Infant.

Word has been received here of the death at Helix of the child of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Heins. The baby was but a few days old. The funeral will occur here tomorrow afternoon, the service being held about 12 o'clock.

Raid on Dirty Markets.

The School of Domestic Science of Portland has made a tour of Portland markets and finds conditions unbearable. The society will urge the immediate appointment of an inspector for fish and meat markets.

Dismissed for Union Meeting.

The midweek meeting of the Presbyterian church will be dismissed this evening to join in the services at the Congregational church.
